PREFACE.

In compiling a work of this kind, gathering genealogical data from so many different sources, no one only those who have had some experience in this line of work, has any adequate idea of the amount of time, labor, and expense that is consumed in investigation and research, which is requisite for a full and complete record. Many embarrassments are encountered which give the compiler no little anxiety, especially so in some of the correspondence and records that have been received from many friends and interested parties, which were better than the average, yet some have been so illegible that great care and due diligence have been exercised to avoid as many errors as possible in the compilation of this work, but undoubtedly some will be found. It is impossible to get every date correct, there being so many discrepancies in records of dates and names.

To many unacquainted with genealogical information, many of the items or records contained herein, though very valuable and interesting, may seem too trivial or too much beneath what is called the "dignity of history" to be inserted, yet it may be observed, that we are not entirely competent judges of what may be valuable or interesting to those who shall come after us. Instead of polished sentences, or well turned periods, truth in its simplicity should be the aim of the genealogist and historian. A person can write a book in a very short time, but there is not a person that will ever live long enough to gather all the records and important data which might be found concerning the Prince family since their emigration to this country to the present time.

PREFACE.

The study of genealogy is so very fascinating that the compiler has considered the task of gathering what is contained herein a pleasure rather than a burden, although it is far from being complete, and far from being what the compiler might desire. It is hoped, however, that it may stimulate some future historian or genealogist to collect the stray threads of family life and gather them into completeness, and to such the compiler would say that he has in his possession a large amount of valuable information, not herein contained, which would be of great utility to those contemplating the same. Hoping that this little volume will meet the approval of the present generation who give it a perusal, and of the generations which are to follow, and that any corrections or additions will be kindly forwarded to the compiler, is the wish of

DANIEL AND JAMES PRINCE.

[TWINS.]

DESCENDANTS OF DANIEL PRINCE.

I. "First Generation."—Daniel¹ Prince was born in Birmingham, Old England, May 1st, 1755. He joined the British army and came to this country in 1777 under General Burgoyne, and was probably with him in his contemplated grand march through Canada and Eastern New York to the sea, which was brought to an inglorious end by his surrender to General Gates, at Saratoga, Oct. 17, 1777. Burgoyne and his army were sent across the country to Boston as prisoners of war. In passing through Massachusetts, many of the British fell out by the way, and subsequently became American citizens. Mr. Prince was one of this number, and took up his residence in Williamsburg, Mass. In 1779 he married Mary Packard, of Goshen, Mass. She was the daughter of James Packard, one of the first settlers of Goshen, and was a native of Bridgewater, in this state. Mr. Prince died in Springfield, Mass., April 23, 1828. His wife died May 21, 1816. Their remains now rest in the cemetery at Springfield, Mass. They had the following eight children—three sons and five daughters:

GENEALOGY OF ROBERT PRINCE, OF SALEM, MASS.,

AS COMPILED BY F. A. PRINCE, WITH A FEW EXTRACTS
TAKEN FROM "SOME MATERIAL FOR A GENE-
ALOGY," BY E. PUTNAM, FROM "HISTORI-
CAL COLLECTIONS OF ESSEX
INSTITUTE," VOL. XXVII.

It is merely conjecture that Richard and Robert Prince were brothers, yet such may be the case. It has also been supposed that Rebecca Prince, who married Capt. John Putnam, the next door neighbor of Robert Prince, may have been a sister of Robert. This is more than probable from evidence in possession of the writer. She was called "step-daughter" of John Gedney, which serves to still more complicate the family relations in this case.

I. ROBERT PRINCE, b. ; died at Salem village, now Danvers, Mass., June 4, 1674; will dated May 24, 1674; proved June 30, 1674. Mentions sons, James and Joseph. Daughter, Elizabeth. Wife, Sarah, to be executrix. Thomas and John Putnam, overseers. Robert married April 5, 1662, Sarah Warren of Watertown; ; she died in jail, May 1692. She married second, Alexander Osborne, an Irishman, whose conduct in attempting to hold the property occupied by his wife after her sons became of age, is not to his credit. A lawsuit was needed before the property was recovered. Sarah Osborne was accused of being a witch by the "afflicted girls." Her second marriage was unhappy and so depressed her that her mind, dwelling upon that and her changed fortunes, became unbalanced, and on the 29th of February warrants were duly issued for her arrest. She was convicted and sentenced to death, was committed to prison and heavily chained. Frail in body and feeble in mind she yet had strength enough to maintain her innocence of the charge made against her, and from March 7th to May 10th she languished in Boston jail, when death, more considerate than man, released her from her bonds. She was a woman of excellent character, only marred by the fact of her marriage with a man whom she had hired to carry on the place. The gossip excited by this act told against her at the trial.

The house built by Robert Prince is still standing (see illustration) with many changes, on Spring avenue, now Danvers, Mass., formerly Salem village. It is owned by St. John Roman Catholic college and is used as a farm house. It remained in the Prince family until 1800. The original grant was that made to William Pester, but was afterward the property of Capt. William Trask who sold to Robert Prince in 1659. This grant contained about 150 acres, and lay, all of it, westerly of Summer street and northerly from what is now Maple street, over toward the Newburyport turnpike. Robert Prince also owned land on the westerly side of Ipswich river.

For further information concerning Robert Prince, his grant, and his widow, Sarah Osborne, the reader is referred to the work of Hon. C. W. Upham, or "Salem Witchcraft in Outline," by Mrs. C. E. Upham.

James Prince was a farmer and lived on the homestead. In the division of their father's estate, James had the eastern and Joseph the western part. The dividing line was Beaver brook, which enters a larger brook, called Whipple's brook, near where is now the house of Mr. Guilford, on Nichols street. The will of James Prince was proved April 3, 1724. All of the real estate was given to sons James and David. Jonathan received £100; to daughters, Charity, Sarah Reding and Rebecca, £40 each; James had the homestead and orchard in front. In 1720 James and Joseph Prince had joined in deeding to their sons, David and Robert, a forty-acre farm near Ipswich river, which had belonged to their father, and the title of which was in controversy at the time James made his will, Aug. 20, 1723.

Doctor Jonathan Prince was one of the earliest resident physicians in Danvers, perhaps the first. Judge Holton studied medicine with him. He lived on the westerly side of Hathorne's hill, where now stands a grove of pines, and near the sight of the Peabody barn, burnt in July, 1891. The house was moved about 1845 to the corner of Hobart and Forrest streets, and is still standing.

Joseph Prince is said by the Historian of Amherst to have been one of the proprietors of Narragansett, No. 3, in the right of his uncle, Richard Prince. The only Richard Prince who served in the Narragansett campaign was Richard, son of Richard of Salem, who may have been his father's cousin.

There is some room for doubt concerning the Prince pedigree as given in the History of Amherst.

III. WILLIAM (22), 11th child of Joseph and Elizabeth (Robinson) Prince, b. in Salem village; bapt. there Sept. 8, 1717. Removed to Pomfret, Conn., near his other brothers, where he married Mary Holland, dau. of Joseph and Elizabeth Holland. He lived in Pomfret (that part which is now Brooklyn) until after 1757, as he was until this date one of the Mortlake Society of this place. (This old Mortlake Society's records commence in the year 1731, and are in the possession of Charles G. Williams, of Brooklyn.) On Sept. 29, 1755, William Prince was chosen society collector for Mortlake Society, and June 10, 1756, was elected member of Pomfret Library. On Jan. 6, 1757, William Prince was chosen one of the committee to take care of the school money. Soon after this, between 1757 and 1760, he moved to what was called the North Parish of New London, now Montville, Conn. His wife, Mary, united with the Congregational Church there, under the pastorate of the Rev. David Jewett, about 1765. She died there April 18, 1799, aged 77 years. Inscription on gravestone: "Mary Williams, whose first husband was William Prince, died April 18, 1799, aged 77 years, 4 months." William Prince died there (Montville) Feb. 21, 1773, in the 56th year of his age; buried in old churchyard on Raymond Hill, Montville. After the death of William Prince, Feb. 21, 1773, his widow (Mary) soon after married, second, Rev. David Jewett, who had been pastor at the above place for a number of years. Jewett's first wife, "Patience," died Nov. 14, 1773. He died June 6, 1783.

There is no record of the marriage of the Rev. David Jewett to his second wife. Soon after Rev. Mr. Jewett's death, his widow, Mary (Holland) (Prince) Jewett, married, third, Mar. 17, 1785, William Williams. She died as above stated, and was buried beside of her first husband, William Prince, in Raymond Hill cemetery, Montville, Ct. William Prince was a large landholder in Montville, and at one time owned the farm on which Captain Jerome W. Williams now lives (1896). He became greatly entangled by debt and was obliged to make an assignment of his property, which left him much impoverished at his death. Elizabeth Holland, the mother of Mary, (his wife) died at Montville, Aug. 23, 1762, aged 64 years. Joseph, the father, died Nov. 18, 1762, in the 68th year of his age. Both were members of the Jewett Church.

The history of the Raymond family (Henry A. Baker) contains the following:

Mar. 12, 1760, dau. of William Prince and (Mary Holland). They had ten children: seven daughters and three sons. Elizabeth died Jan. 2, 1844, at Montville, aged 83 years, 9 months, 20 days."

March 26, 1746, William and Timothy Prince sold to Joshua Putnam, land in Middleton, and Dec. 9, 1757, Timothy Prince, with consent of his wife, Huldah, sold to George Wiat, of Danvers. A short time after 1760, they removed to Pomfret, Conn., near his other brothers.

Timothy Prince's name appears on Pomfret Probate Records, book 11, page 22; also Maj. Timothy Prince's inventory, page 33-4, same book; also Maj. Timothy's distribution of his real estate, page 393. There is also in book 12, page 302, something concerning John Prince, son of Col. Timothy Prince.

Cannot say whether the above relates to Timothy, Sr., or Timothy, Jr.; probably the latter.

There is also in Brooklyn cemetery, Brooklyn, Conn., a gravestone with the following inscription: "In memory of Mrs. Polly Prince, wife of John Prince, who departed this life Jan. 26, 1808, in the 42nd year of her age." Perhaps she was (Polly Hayward), and that he was John, son of James and Hannah Putnam. See No. 29. Can anyone give me information about this John?

Albert and Ophelia (Elliott) Prince, on May 12, 1894, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, and the following poem was written for the occasion by their grandson, Charles Henry Prince.

A FIFTY SUMMER VOYAGE.

I'm not much of a poet,—
Rhymer, I like much better;
So you need not call this a poem,
Just call it a family letter.

We have assembled here,
A little band, absorbed in country lore,
With congratulations and old time yarns
Since the days of forty-four.

From different sources we've come,
As in the good old days of yore,
There's always a fire on the hearthstone,
A warm greeting at the door.

The circle about you is almost complete,
Here are fathers and mothers and brothers,
All wishing the same long life and health,
Misters and sisters and others.

We all join in with one accord,
In the quaint old-fashioned way,
Both young and old, the timid, the bold,
Upon this festive day.

This is our cry, it's loud, it's long,
As it falls upon our senses,
"Long live the king," "Long live the queen,"
And long, long live the Princes.

But hark! catch the echo as it clearly sounds
In response to this our cry;
Though man may fall and pass away,
His works shall never die.

And if we're not the same dear friends
You in your youth did know,
We love you as they did who met
Just fifty years ago.

This is your golden wedding day,
The diamond is to follow,
The others all were yesterday,
And this is but to-morrow.

There's many a change since you came home
As bridegroom and as bride;
Your little ones have all grown up,
Been borne out with the tide.

But there's one chair that's vacant,
And the picture on the wall
Reminds us of him who has left you,
Answering to the heavenly call.

He was the first to leave you,
But follow all, we must;
It is sad, but bright the outlook
With an unfaltering trust.

Since forty-four, those days of yore,
By storm and sunshine tried,
In changing wind and weather
Have you roughed it side by side.

Wise sailors you have both become
Upon this voyage of life,
For the captain is a noble man,
The pilot a noble wife.

The voyage is fifty summers long,
The race is almost run,
And 'tis little I know of its calms and storms,
Son of your son.

To me it is now tradition,
You've landmarks that are gray,
And you alone can tell the happenings
Of years ago to-day.

But I've garnered from your stories
Of pleasure and of care,
Many thoughts of dear remembrance,
Clinging close to grandpa's chair.

For this is home, how dear the name,
How quiet like and still,
We love it all the more because
It's way up on the hill.

And you have lived up here alone
And carried on the farm,
Through stormy seas, till close to port,
You're sailing in a calm.

The flickering lights gleam faintly,
As the life boat nears the shore,
Faith and hope keep it from sinking,
And will keep it evermore.

Pause a little ere the landing,
Just one look back o'er the sea,
One reflection, then 'tis finished,
What I have to offer thee.

ALBERT PRINCE.

PAGE 73.

Your lives are as the wheat field,
 That is heavy with golden grain,
 For ye've lived unto God's glory,
 Ye have not lived in vain.

Will others say the same of us
 Who live in years to come?
 God grant us all a golden voyage,
 And a golden harvest home.

On May 30, 1897, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Prince celebrated their silver wedding anniversary, and among the many beautiful tokens of remembrance from their many friends is the following from their oldest son. It was entirely unexpected, and the manner in which it was read added so much effectiveness to the occasion that it brought tears to many eyes. Following we give it in full:

LINES

On the Silver Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. PRINCE,
May 30, '97, composed by Charles H. Prince, and affectionately dedicated

To Father and Mother.

DEAR PARENTS AND FRIENDS:

I ask you for a moment to listen
To one who is sincere,
Who wishes blessings to attend
Through all your life's career.

Today we have assembled
Our kind esteem to pay,
To you who have been united
In fighting life's untried way.

Not in "single blessedness,"
But happily together,
Have you faced the fight victoriously
Through changing wind and weather.

So we come today with greetings,
With merry hearts and true,
To show the kindly feelings
That time hath won for you.

The twenty-five years have swiftly passed
From the day of your marriage date—
A day historic in our land,
Sad in our country's fate.

And now o'er the years that have vanished
Let us pause for a moment to gaze;
If life hath had some trials,
It must have had pleasant ways.

SARAH MARIA (CHAFFEE) PRINCE.

Perhaps a bit of the story
Of how it all came about,
Might be of interest to some of you
Who now are in much doubt.

Years ago in Woodstock town,
Nestling among the hills,
Fed by the produce of farm lands,
Nourished by Nature's rills,

Lived, not a mile from each other,
A youth and maiden fair,
He of the Princes loyal,
She of the debonair.

Time works out its changes;
Cupid was never still
Till out from the thrifty farmlands,
Out from over the hill

He brought the youth and maiden,
Now grown to riper years,
And drove them toward the parson's,
Free from all cares and fears.

Straight to the dominie's house they went;
Bright shining was the sun,
And brighter still their faces
After the deed was done.

Fair were the plans and castles
Built then in air;
They seemed to you all so real
And free from every care.

And sweet mem'ries still you cherish
Of the days that are no more,
But the future is still brighter
For the burdens pressing sore.

Two sons have come to lighten
And help you in the fight;
Though the elder one has left you,
He feels your watchful sight.

The younger son, who's still at home,
I trust will always be
A blessing to you, till at length
He leaves the paternal tree.

And what if there's silver in your hair
Which soon will turn to gray!
We are not blind to what it means—
You cannot always stay.

Beauty will faint, and fade, and die,
Only leaving a light behind,
But as it fades and moments fly
The calmer grows the mind.

And may the love that now cements,
Your happy hearts as one,
Grow deeper, sweeter, as the years
Roll onward, one by one.

May the path you walk be strewn with flowers,
Through every changing scene,
And may adversity's dread hours
Be few and far between.

A veil that hangs before our eyes
Keeps future years concealed,
But in yon distant, blissful heaven
To God they stand revealed.

As He thro' paths of grief or joy
Conducts you as His own,
May you in every changing scene
Say, "Lord, Thy will be done."

Your golden wedding may you reach,
 Though distant it appears,
 No memory of a word or deed
 To dim your eyes with tears.

Surrounded then by loving friends
 And all that life endears,
 Give those a thought who then shall be
 Within the eternal years.

For some who stand beside you now
 The coming years to greet,
 Will not be there to celebrate
 That day so fair and sweet.

Will not? How do we know but then,
 More lovingly than now,
 Unseen, unfelt, their lips shall rain
 Love tokens on your brow?

And when our earthly lives shall close,
 And dust to dust be given,
 May we all here together walk
 The golden streets of heaven.

The following in regard to Thompson's first ministers may be interesting to some of the descendants whose ancestors were married by Thompson ministers:

REV. MARSTON CABOT was ordained pastor of the First Church in Thompson, Conn., Feb. 5, 1730, and filled that position until April, 1756, covering a period of twenty-six years of faithful service, during which time eight hundred and thirty infants were baptized by him.

REV. NOADIAH RUSSELL was ordained Nov. 9, 1757, faithfully serving until 1795. Nine hundred and twenty-six children were baptized by him during his ministry.

REV. DANIEL DOW was ordained April 20, 1796, serving until 1849.

The noticeable feature is that the pastorates of the first three preachers of Thompson First Church covered a period of one hundred and nineteen years.

For the benefit of those who shall follow after me I hereby append the following records:—[^rAuthor].

In the "Charlestown, (Mass), Genealogies," by Wyman, on page 773, is mentioned a Richard Prince as having been admitted as an inhabitant, with T. Larkin as security, Feb. 1, 1674; also one or two other Princes. In "Griffin's Journal", published at Orient, Long Island, N. Y., in 1857, by Augustus Griffin, is the following: "James and John Prince were brothers. John settled in Southold, where he died in 1675 aged 78 years. Do not know whether James ever came to America. Joseph was John's son, born 1719; died in 1805. There were other sons,—Joseph, Benjamin and Thomas. John Prince, the first son, had three sons,—John, Ezra, and Morton. Ezra died in 1824; his wife was Phebe Horton, by whom he had two sons,—Albert and Orrin; also daughters,—Martha, Betsey, Lucretia, Phebe and Ann. Orrin, born 1816, married Maria L. Welles, 1839."

There was a Richard Prince admitted a freeman at Salem, Dec. 27, 1642; a Samuel Prince, at Hull, May 8, 1678; and also a Samuel Prince, at Hull, May 9, 1680.

Richard Prince and Sarah Rix, of Salem, were married Dec. 25, 1677, and had children:—

Richard, b. Jan. 21, 1678.

Joseph, b. Dec. 28, 1680; d. Sept. 14, 1691.

John, b. Sept. 15, 1682.

The following notice appeared in THE BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER, Wednesday morning, September 11, 1844, The ADVERTISER copying from the Philadelphia NORTH AMERICAN, and they from the LONDON TIMES.

Copied verbatim et literatim, by the author, F. A. Prince, Danielson, Conn.

JAMES PRINCE, DECEASED, HEIR-AT-LAW WANTED.

Any person who can establish their claim to be heir-at-law of James Prince, formerly of Oxford, afterwards of London, cooper, and who died at Hoxton, in 1774, will hear of something greatly to his or her advantage by addressing a letter to J. Waterlow, 24 Birch Lane, London.

James Prince's brothers were named Edward, Joseph and John. Edward Prince formerly carried on the business of a cooper in London, and is supposed to have immigrated to America about the year 1736, at which period he had four children, named Mary, James, Edward and Joseph.

Any person giving information which may lead to the discovery of the descendants of the said Edward Prince will be rewarded for their trouble. Persons reading this advertisement and acquainted with any one by the name of Prince are requested to draw their attention to it.

In the History of Gloucester, Mass., by John J. Babson, page 129, is the following:—

Thomas Prince is called brother-in-law of Thomas Skilings. He came to Gloucester before 1650 and settled at the Harbor, on what is now Front St., where the family continued to reside more than a hundred years. He also had land in Fisherman's Field. He had a wife, Margaret, who died Feb. 24, 1706. He died Jan. 17, 1690, aged 71, leaving an estate of £153. His children were Thomas, born 1650; John 1653; Mary 1658; and Isaac, 1663. Thomas Prince, Jr., married Elizabeth Haraden, Sept. 27, 1676, and died Jan. 11, 1705, leaving children.—Edward, Elizabeth, John, Isaac, Sarah, Abigail. Of these, John became a sea captain, and died April 19, 1767, aged 90 years. He married first, Abigail Ellery; married second, Mary, widow of Elder James Sayward, and had eight children.—John, Isaac, Mary and five other daughters. John died young. Isaac married Honor, daughter of Richard Tarr, and they had Sarah and John. This John married Mary, daughter of Jonathan Haskell, in 1755, and they had Mary, born in Gloucester, Aug. 20, 1758; John, born in New Gloucester, Me., Jan. 20, 1761.

John and Isaac, sons of Thomas Prince, Sr., do not appear to have been married in town. Isaac received a soldier's lot at Kettle Cove, in 1679, instead of John, and was here ten years later, but afterwards disappeared. Isaac, son of Thomas Prince, Jr., born in 1683, is supposed to be the same who married Honor Wouson, widow, in 1730. The only male issue of this marriage recorded is a John, born in 1734; he is perhaps the only settler of New Gloucester, Me., of that name. No descendants of Thomas Prince bearing the name have resided in Gloucester for many years.

The following record of Samuel Prince was found on Town Records in Amherst, Mass., which is all there is in regard to Samuel:

For the benefit of the readers, and especially to those who wish to further collect, publish and gather into completeness the records of the Prince family, the following information may be of service:—

Capt. Howard L. Prince, Washington, D. C., has collected quite a considerable of Prince material.

Freeman Bradford Prince, 289 Commercial St., Salem, Oregon, has a large amount of information on line of Thomas Prince, of Gloucester, Cape Ann, Massachusetts Bay, Essex Co.

Frederick W. Prince, Hartford, Conn., (with Gatling Gun Co.,) has quite an amount on line of "Elder John," of Hull, of whom he is a descendant.

John T. Prince, Joy St., Boston, Mass., has in Mss. quite a full and complete record of Capt. Job and wife, Elizabeth.

Capt. Greenleaf Cilley, U. S. N., and his brother, Gen. Jona P. Cilley, Rockland, Me., have Prince records.

Thomas Prince, Esq., Boston, Mass., former publisher of The Mass. Historical Genealogical Register, has Prince records in Mss.

Col. Edward Prince, Quincy, Ill., has in Mss., and is still collecting for a genealogy. Hope the near future may bring its presence to the present generation for perusal which are so deeply interested in the records of their ancestors.

The author of this volume, F. A. Prince, Danielson, Conn., has in his possession quite a collection of Prince records, not herein contained, of value to any one who is contemplating a complete genealogy of the Prince family.

George Prince, of the sixth generation, published a pamphlet of 32 pages, in Feb., 1888, on line of "Elder John" Prince, of Hull, Mass., which is a very valuable help to the genealogist. Printed by C. W. Symonds, Boston, Mass.

A well-bound book of 27 pages, containing a memorial of the Rev. Ammi Cushing Prince, being a report of the funeral services and also his obituary, by Rev. George D. Lindsay, was printed in 1895 by Hunt & Eaton, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York.

The New England Magazine for Feb., 1894, published by Warren F. Kellogg, 5 Park Sqr., Boston, Mass., contains "Twelve Hundred Miles on Horseback One Hundred Years Ago," from the Diary of Hezekiah Prince, by George Prince, being an account of Hezekiah Prince's adventures on horseback one hundred years ago. The magazine contains 12 pages of this very valuable old record.

A souvenir is in possession of the author containing a complete account of the gathering of many descendants of Hezekiah and Isabella Prince, of Thomaston, Me., at Spencer, Mass., Aug. 20 to 30, 1891.

For other works, containing the name of Prince, consult "Index to American Genealogies," Fourth Edition, 1895, by Joel Munsell's Sons, Pubs., Albany, N. Y.
